ANNUAL DINNER SETS RECORD

"No, Dick, that was when the tour was at Palermo".

"Aw, Stan, don't interrupt".

"Wish I'd brought some go-go girls".

The combined attraction of a new Headmaster, two long term and popular masters, Toronto's newest luxury hotel and a Friday evening seems to have been the right formula to get a good attendance at the Association Annual Dinner. An all-time record 320 souls turned up April 25th at the spanking new Harbour Castle on the waterfront, opened only about three weeks before. Cocktails in the foyer of the main ballroom with its floor to ceiling slanted windows overlooking Toronto Bay and the islands under a full moon, made for quite an exciting experience.

Piper Andy Knox '64 led the head table into the ballroom, consisting of the Chairman for the evening, Bill Graham '54, Board of Governors vice-Chairman Tom Chipman '47, the Headmaster, Association President George Sara, Dick Gibb, Stan Macfarlane, Association Secretary Jim Hamilton '33. Following the usual draws for raffle prizes, Bill Graham introduced Dick and Stan who proceeded to give an hilarious account of some of their experiences over 29 and 28 years respectively. They were followed by Dr. Hockin who spoke about his view of the role of the independent school, and some of the hopes and plans he has for St. Andrew's in the future. George Sara concluded proceedings by thanking the speakers and presenting appropriate gifts to them on behalf of the Association. He also congratulated Bill Graham and his committee consisting of parents Brian Devereux and Peter Dalton, Murray Shields '67, Bob Thom '70, Tom Amell '72 and Jim Hamilton '33. Theirs will be a difficult act to follow.

Special thanks go to parent Gordon Carpenter for his very generous donation of spiritous beverages which certainly helped to make this year's Dinner a financial success as well as a happy one.

The only note of concern is whether or not next year's Dinner Committee can maintain the practice of permitting the sale of tickets at the door without prior notification of intention to attend. This year over 100 appeared and it was only due to some fortunate guessing by the Committee and adroit footwork by the Harbour Castle personnel that the extra people were accommodated. There is no intention of discouraging attendance but if the Annual Dinner continues its apparent popularity it may become necessary to require purchase of tickets in advance.

Quartet from the twenties includes Waldo Holden '25, Tim Chisholm '28, David Peene '21 and Ross Paul '25.

Dave Wharton '64, John Thompson '63 and Barry Thomson '61 look prosperous!

Fathers Leo Weilinger and Len Pugh from Richmond Hill found a spot to sit down for a chat.

Geoff Smith, dean of Memorial House, admires John Siddall's (70) Scottish regalia. John brought along his pipes to enliven the evening.

George Armstrong '33 makes a point to Roy McMurtry '50.

Jack Wright of St. George's greets Chairman of the Dinner Committee Bill Graham '52 as Jim Hepburn '45 waits his turn. Jim has two sons attending St. Andrew's this year.

Bill Macdonald and Don Milne of 1930 seem to be in pretty good shape after a lapse of 45 years. Bill is co-Chairman with Hon. John Roberts of the Metro Zoo Fund.

Yeah, you really did look like that, says Tom Forbes '32 to Bud Cox '33. Tom has a seemingly inexhaustible supply of pictures from his years at school.

Perhaps I have gained a pound or two, admits Fed Lyon '23 to Don Barber '27.

Raffle prize winners Alan Adams '38, gleefully accepts his T.V. set from Waldo Holden '25 who drew Alan's ticket.

Yes, Tom, your raffle prize is a weekend for two at the luxurious Harbour Castle, says proud host Murray Shields '67 to Tom Gordon '31.

Blair Christie '70 can hardly believe his luck in winning a free ticket in the Association's $1,000 a week Lottery, as Tom Amell '72 explains the details.

S.A.C.'s 75th Anniversary Year a Busy One

The past ten months have seen a multitude of activities at the School arranged to celebrate its 75th year of existence. Included were:

—a series of concerts starting in the Fall term with a visit from the "Les Feux Follets", followed in the winter term by the York Region Symphony Orchestra and the Paul Brodie Saxophone Quartet.

—an invitation soccer tournament in November for eight independent schools in First team level (won by St. Andrew's) —an invitation Under 15 hockey tournament for six independent schools in December.

—an invitation debating tournament in April with 16 schools participating and won by Michael Power.

—lectures on various subjects by outstanding people in the area of science.

The program concluded with "Mayfest", a day long carnival staged by the boys for their friends, parents and Old Boys with their families, and highlighted by a one-act play festival for independent schools adjudicated by Donald Davis. Six schools took part in this with Crescent School and Appleby judged co-winners.

The S.A.C. Association through its members has played a part in most of these activities but perhaps its most important contribution has been with the now well known Lottery. Over $20,000 in additional funds for the scholarship and bursary program has been generated this year. It was sufficiently successful to warrant continuing another year and details appear elsewhere in this issue.

Percy J. Robinson Plaque

At Sunday evening Chapel on April 20th an interesting ceremony concluded the service when a plaque was unveiled in memory of Dr. Percy J. Robinson by his four year old great-grandson. Dr. Robinson, affectionately known as "Cicero" was on the staff of St. Andrew's for 47 years.

Three generations of the family were present including Dr. Robinson's son, Dr. Gilbert deB. Robinson, his son John, and young Tod. Also on hand was Esther Ketchum, now Mrs. Frank D. Thomson who is a niece of Dr. P.J.R., her brother Sam Beauregard and several other guests including Mrs. D. Bruce Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lowndes, Gordon Cassels, Bruce King, J. K. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. T. George Armstrong. Following the service the guests and members of the staff were entertained at the Headmaster's home.

Hockey

Hockey continued to be healthy at St. Andrew's this past winter. The First team had its best season since 1963 and came within a single point of the Independent Schools Championship. U.C.C. finished first with nine wins and loss, while S.A.C. had eight wins, one loss and a tie. Upper Canada's one loss was to St. Andrew's. A tie with Lakefield in their second last game proved costly to the Saints as a win would have given them the additional point to at least share the championship. Including tournaments and exhibition games the season's record stood at 17 wins, 4 losses and 2 ties. To wind up the year the team went to Sweden at the spring break for an eleven day tour which was both enjoyable and successful. The boys paid their own way and were billeted with Swedish families in Stockholm and Leksand. The reception they got was "fantastic", they said. The Andreean extends congratulations to coach Ron Kinney, Captain Macfarlane and all members of the team for a great effort. Next year looks interesting when all but three of the 1975 team should be returning.

The Seconds under coach Bob Bedard came up with another good year with a 14 and 6 record. Other teams representing the School were the Under 15s, Under 14s and Under 13s. A House League operated for Upper School boys.

Mac House Athletics

Unique in this past year was the achievement of two Mac House Under 15 teams.

In soccer last fall the Under 15s ran up 14 straight victories in taking the I.S.A.A. title for their age group. This spring the Under 15s cricket team won 7 consecutive matches in league play and thus captured that championship as well. The interesting fact is that

Basketball

The Firsts having lost all but two of last year's championship team through graduation, had what coach Gord Ackerman calls an "interim" year. They nevertheless finished a respectable third in the I.S.A.A. league which now embraces eight teams. Hillfield of Hamilton, St. George's and Crescent in Toronto have been added. Under 17 and Under 15 teams had so-so results but each had several players showing promise.

The winter term now offers quite a variety of activity with skiing a recognized sport and a senior and junior team competes in I.S.A.A. and G.B.S.S.A. meets. Judo, fencing and curling along with house league volleyball is also offered.

Rugger

The Juniors (under 17) took the spotlight in rugger this spring, going undefeated to the I.S.A.A. championship. They did not participate in the Ontario Championships since they came too late in the school year.

The Seniors were in a building year and this season was not one of their best. Coach Geoff Smith bemoans the lack of speedy backs at senior level and hopes some new blood will appear.

eight out of the eleven players on each team were the same. In other words these eight boys formed the main thrust in giving S.A.C. 21 straight victories in independent school competition.

Housemaster Ted Harrison coached both teams so their success is a great credit to him. Upper school soccer and ericket coaches are rubbing their hands in anticipation!

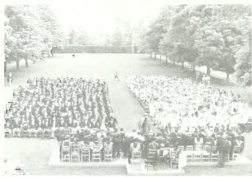

Prize Day 1975

Piper Rod Finlayson leads the Platform guests out of Dunlap Hall to the quad.

Roy McMurtry, Q.C., and graduate of 1950 was the guest speaker.

Over 400 parents, Old Boys and friends attended the ceremonies.

Roy McMurtry presents the King Trophy for the boy living in Macdonald House who most excels in studies, games, deportment and character to John Pitts, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pitts of Toronto.

Our Goof!

In our last issue (December 1974) a photograph of the 1925 First Hockey team was included. In it we endeavored to identify everyone but made a couple of goofs. One, identified with a query as Bruce Burry was in fact Stuart B. Wood, business manager of the team and Head Prefect that year. Stuart died

Rick Mann, Head Boy for 1975 with 93.2% in Upper VI, receives his many awards from Tom Chipman '47, vice Chairman of the Board of Governors.

J. K. Macdonald '22, Honourary Chairman of the Board, congratulates Harvey Sasso receiving the School prize to the Head Prefect. Harvey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Sasso of Kingston, Jamaica.

Scott Sillcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Sillcox, Aurora, was awarded the Stuart B. Wood Memorial Prize for the member of Form V most distinguished in character, scholarship and games.

Jim Hepburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hepburn of Toronto is congratulated as Captain of Stewart Clan (Fourth House), winners of the Housser Trophy for Inter-Clan Competition, by Mrs. R. J. Watford, vice president of the Ladies' Guild.

The Lawrence Crowe Trophy for Rifle Shooting went to Judd Kennedy. Judd was selected a member of the Canadian Cadet team for Commonwealth competition at Bisley, England this summer.

in 1960. For some reason or other Burry is not included in the photo but he was definitely a member of the team. He currently lives in Toronto.

The other errors were in misspelling Ernie Chapman's name as Chipman, and failing to include Alex (Ooks) Carrick among those who have died. Carrick was killed in World War II while serving with the Army Service Corps.

Jake's Corner

J. S. Vanderploeg, trustee of the S.A.C. Foundation and formerly President of Anaconda Brass, now retired, is so well known for his anecdotes and witticisms that the Andean now proposes to offer a few for our readers' enjoyment in each issue. Here are the first:-

"By the time you're old enough to understand your dad, you have a son who doesn't understand you".

"If the Lord wanted a permissive society He would have given us Ten Suggestions".

We are grateful to several Old Boys who drew these errors to our attention.

Lottery II Launched

The S.A.C. Association Scholarship Lottery which had its first draw for the $1,000 weekly prize last October 19th, is now into its final three months. Last draw takes place October 11th next. Encouraged by the indicated results ($20,000 net profit) the Council of the Association has authorized another Lottery to follow immediately after the conclusion of the present one. A Lottery Committee under the joint Chairmanship of parents Arnold Wigston and Dusty Miklas has been busy reviewing various proposals for administration and marketing the tickets. They concluded that the present format should be satisfactory except for beefing up the selling organization to ensure that the maximum of 1,000 tickets is sold. Steps have been taken to accomplish that objective and LOTTERY II has now been launched.

Subscribers to the present Lottery have been given first opportunity to participate. Two teams of ticket sellers will follow up during the summer, then an organized solicitation of parents will start when the school opens in September. First draw in Lottery II will be made not later than October 25th, 1975 with weekly draws thereafter. A ticket entitles the holder to 52 chances to win $1,000 which makes the odds very favourable indeed. Far more favourable for example, than the Olympic Lottery or Wintario. Price of a ticket, based on $2 a week, is $104 payable in advance. For ticket applications or further information contact the S.A.C. Association office at the School.

Prize Day Address

It is indeed a great honour to have been asked to address you on this occasion of the 76th Annual Prize Giving of St. Andrew's College. In fact I am sure that my old housemaster, the late Thomas Barnabid Dunstan Tudball would be somewhat surprised to witness his former student, whom he often referred to as an "inordinately young man", being allowed to speak to this distinguished gathering.

On the other hand I am confident that he would be pleased to know that his rehabilitative efforts, which often took the form of a number of laps about the quadrangle or the recording of lengthy extracts from the bible had had some curative effect.

One line that my contemporaries and I recall writing with some considerable degree of repetition, did not come from the bible, but does possess that same timeless quality. I am sure that many of us still remember pages of full-scap that were filled with this rather simple but eloquent phrase:

"The nightingale alone opens its mouth solely for the purpose of emitting sound".

I might state that this is one of St. Andrew's traditions that has descended upon my own six children although obviously not entirely with their approval.

For most of you today the name Tudball may be little more than the name under a photograph hanging outside the Headmaster's office. However, for three generations of Andrews that he taught for close to fifty years, he remains a very vivid memory.

Tuddy represented the finest tradition in boarding school teachers, that of a stern disciplinarian with a rare understanding of school boys. As an illustration of this I recall an incident which occurred when I was a young new boy in Flavelle House.

In my first year I lived in a small dormitory which used to form part of the Housemaster's quarters. My room-mates and I were therefore particularly vulnerable to unexpected visits from our Housemaster should we be creating any mischief. On one such occasion I well remember being unceremoniously pulled out of bed by Mr. Tudball and escorted from my room apparently to be taken to the Headmaster's office where I expected to confront the business end of a bamboo cane. On the way Tuddy checked on several other rooms and also invited me to participate in an inspection of the washroom which was shared by all of us on our half of the floor. What I did not realize at the time was that the washroom was quite a mess, water scattered about with a few muddy footprints.

After receiving somewhat of a lecture about our "disgusting" bathing habits we had occasion to inspect the corresponding washroom on the next floor. Surprisingly enough the washroom was most immaculate. After remarking on the astounding difference between the state of the two washrooms, my Housemaster turned abruptly to me and with a twinkle in his eye, stated: "those boys don't wash". I never did get to the Headmaster's office that night.

Although I first became a student at St. Andrew's College in 1946, my memories of the school go back much further. My father entered the school when it was only fifteen years old and his experience became a part of my life at a very early age. My own son who will enter the school in September has undoubtedly also been influenced to some extent by my own life at St. Andrew's which ended some twenty-five years ago. At the same time we all know that our world has undergone incredible dramatic changes during those three generations.

For you who are graduating the challenges facing Andrews seventy-five years ago must appear, in retrospect, much less complex than those confronting you today. Certainly the world to which I graduated in 1950 appeared more orderly than that which we presently enjoy. Nevertheless, you are probably much better equipped to face these challenges than your predecessors of twenty-five or seventy-five years ago. The combination of a more modern educational curriculum and the 'Global Village' influence of television, in my view, have developed in the high school graduate of today a much greater awareness of the world about them.

With your heightened awareness you should have some appreciation of the magnitude of the problems facing our society. You who are leaving St. Andrew's will therefore be faced with the decision as to whether you are prepared to become involved or whether you desire a more comfortable life by simply letting someone else attempt to resolve the problems.

We live in an age of moral indifference which flourishes particularly among people who have little purpose beyond their private tastes, whims and ambitions. Many of our self-indulgent generation appear to be preoccupied with the pursuit of private wealth and pleasure with little concern for the interests of the community at large.

Powerful special interest groups are determined to maintain or improve their special status. In achieving their goals they are often prepared to defy both the law and the community. As a result the alienation of those who have been left behind is growing greater every day.

The consequences of this process are that we can expect an increased questioning of basic values and greater confusion. An even more unfortunate product of this growing alienation is the probably of the increase of anti-social and indeed violent behaviour in our society.

Canadians have been spared much of the violence which surrounds us. However, we have no way of really knowing when violence as an end in itself, or as a tool for social change, will become part of our own experience. When the leader of a terrorist group receives a standing ovation at the United Nations, Canada's relative immunity to political violence may be of short duration.

Our leaders and indeed ourselves simply may not be prepared for this increasingly complicated civilization. The few precedents that guide us as most of our conventional wisdom was meant for a simpler age. As a political philosopher wrote recently: "We have changed our environment more quickly than we know how to change ourselves".

However, for you who DO have the capacity to be leaders of tomorrow, this predicament can and should provide an exciting challenge. If I have learned anything in the twenty-five years since my graduating class sat here, it is that our society cries out for responsible leadership.

You may ask why we should look to you for leadership anymore than to the other thousands who will be graduating this spring. Well, although you may not enjoy being reminded of it, you have been given opportunities not available to the great majority of your contemporaries.

You have had a unique opportunity to mature in an environment that has been dedicated to developing a disciplined mind and body. Equally important are the demands that have been made upon you in learning to live with one another. This experience should have produced an understanding and sensitivity that will make you more responsive to the needs of a larger community.

While I stated a few moments ago that conventional wisdom was becoming of less assistance in a complicated civilization I did not mean to suggest for one moment that we should abandon traditional values. Certainly a concern for the needs of others will always be relevant.

My generation tended to speak of being your brother's keeper but more often than not it was said with a certain air of detachment. However, with the startling advances in communication we now all have a more immediate realization of these needs. Responsible people therefore simply cannot remain detached.

The comedian Dick Gregory put it rather effectively when he stated: "The whole world is so busy being its brother's keeper that we have all forgotten that until you learn to be your brother's brother you will never keep him very well".

As a lawyer, journalist and sometime politician I can sincerely state that my greatest pleasure and satisfaction has been derived from an involvement in the problems of my community, my province and my country. At the same time I believe that we should stop talking presumptuously about a 'great society' or a 'just society' and dedicate ourselves to the struggle for a decent society.

So in closing, I extend to the graduating class of 1975 the challenge to become involved. Look around you and do not be reluctant to make a compassionate and concerned commitment to the world in which you live. Such a commitment was clear to the late Dr. Tom Dooley, the American physician who some years ago gave up a comfortable practice to serve the peasants in South Vietnam. Just before his death Dr. Dooley wrote:

"You commit a sin of omission if you do not utilize all the power that is within you. All men have claims on man, and to the man with special talents, this is a very special claim. It is required that man take part in the actions and passions of his time at the peril of being judged not to have lived at all".

Thank you and good luck.

Debating 1974-75

A highly successful year for the Senior Debating Society culminated in its winning the Fulford Trophy awarded annually to the school that emerges as champion in Independent Schools competition. On three occasions in the past, St. Andrew's shared the trophy with another school. This year, for the first time, we were able to "get the start of the majestic world, and bear the palm alone".

The debating season began somewhat inauspiciously at Appleby when a spirited team consisting of Andrew Kilpatrick, Rick Mann and Jim Ryan was narrowly defeated by excellent Appleby debaters. We gained some satisfaction from the fact that Kilpatrick was named best speaker of the debate. Except in tournament competition, our senior debaters would not again sustain defeat throughout the debating year.

In November a team comprising John Kerr, David Mitchell and Jerome Pascaris travelled to Port Hope for an encounter with the formidable defending champion T.C.S. debaters. For the first time in ten years at T.C.S., St. Andrew's gained the decision with David Mitchell being named best speaker.

Early in December the Debating Society played host to the University of Toronto Schools. Defending the resolution that "Hedonism is a Virtue", Mike Crosbie, Gary Lawrence and Iain Kinnon brought us our second victory. Lawrence was named best speaker.

On February 6, Upper Canada College debaters visited St. Andrew's and participated in a rousing debate that we narrowly won by a split decision. Our debaters on this occasion were Mark Brooks, James Hepburn and Martin Henderson.

Having suffered two consecutive defeats at the hands of Ridley College, our debaters were determined to turn the tables this year. This they did with Rob Morrow (best speaker of the debate, Scott Sillow and Walter Stirling emerging triumphant.

Owing to inclement weather that rendered driving something more than hazardous, our final I.S.L. debate with Lakefield College School was postponed until Friday, April 11. At this point in time we knew that victory would bring us the Fulford Trophy. In a suspenseful atmosphere fraught with tension, Basil Gerol, best speaker, Hugh Munro and Peter Roth were awarded the decision in an extremely close debate. Mr. T. N. Lawson from T.C.S., President of the National Debating Federation and Dean of I.S.L. debating coaches, graciously awarded the Fulford Trophy to Michael Crosbie, President of our Debating Society.

Interspersed amongst the Fulford debates, were lively and entertaining home encounters with St. Clement's School, Havergal and Branksome. Our debaters were successful in their debates with St. Clement's and Branksome. The Havergal debate ended in an unusual draw.

In mid November, Basil Gerol was selected one of three government members in the final debate of the Appleby tournament and was subsequently named best speaker of the entire tournament.

On May 3 at the annual U.T.S. Debating Tournament, our team consisting of Jeff MacMillan, Kurt Marechaux and Rob Morrow were awarded the trophy given to the best extemporaneous debating team.

At the end of a year that featured so many fine St. Andrew's debaters, Michael Crosbie and Basil Gerol can be deservedly proud to share the Brooks Cup for their proficiency in debating.

Cadet Corps Inspection

The Inspecting Officer, Lt. Col. W. C. Stark, C.D., Commanding Officer of the 48th Highlanders of Canada, accompanied by Cadet Lt. Col. Andrew Kilpatrick, the Headmaster, Capt. D. B. Hunter and Lieut. J. Oakes, approach the Corps waiting at the open order.

Lt. Col. Stark congratulates Cadet Lt. Col. Andrew Kilpatrick and presents his award.

No. 8 Platoon, commanded by Cadet Lt. J. E. Kerr is awarded the Ellsworth Trophy for the Best Platoon by Capt. Hunter.

Mr. Michael Sifton hands award to Cadet Pipe Major J. W. Marechaux.

Mr. Stephen Roman presents Capt. Lloyd MacPherson's Prize for the Best Cadet to Robert Bruce.

Branksome vs St. Andrew's

Something new was added to the extra-curricular program at St. Andrew's this year as another event in a year-long series to mark the 75th Anniversary of the School. It was a "spelling bee" between Grade 7 and 8 girls of Branksome Hall and boys of S.A.C. The girls were invited for dinner at the School on a Friday evening. In spite of being International Women's Year, the boys eked out a narrow victory. It was all taken in good spirit as these photographs show

Representing Branksome were Jane Crawford, Bryn MacPherson, Naomi Laufer and Suzie Dingwall.

For St. Andrew's were Larry Dill, Hugh O'Connell, Warren Stoddart and Bernard Ruhl.

Ladies' Guild News

A very busy year for the Ladies' Guild came to a close with the 75th Anniversary Ball on June 13th. Actually this is the tenth successive year the always popular event has been staged by the Guild with the proceeds going to the S.A.C. Foundation for the scholarship and bursary fund.

Highlight of the regular Guild meetings was the visit on February 5th of the Honourable Pauline McGibbon, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. Mrs. McGibbon spoke on the role of women in today's society to a large turnout of members and the students which filled the Ketchum Auditorium. At the Guild spring meeting the ladies were addressed by David Haber, artistic director of the National Ballet.

At "Mayfest", the Guild organized a raffle and a bake sale as a contribution to the rebuilding of the tennis courts which produced a very welcome $1,500. Prize winners in the raffle were:

- Mrs. J. A. Bennet, St. Andrew's College, Aurora
Mrs. J. T. D. Pascaris, 39 Stratheden Road, Toronto
Mrs. M. J. Angus, 19 South Kimlea, Toronto
C. A. & J. D. Pitts, 21 Dale Ave., Toronto
Mrs. L. Bishop, 44 Shirley Ave., Barrie
Mrs. D. C. Finlayson, 106 Banstock Dr., Willowdale

President Mrs. Peter J. Dalton and her hard-working executive are to be congratulated on the excellent year and were thanked most heartily by the School for their great work on behalf of St. Andrew's.

Edson Gerald Smith

Gerry Smith's four years at St. Andrew's were as busy as anyone could be, involved as he was in almost every activity in the School. He is best remembered as a lineman on the First Football (Rugby) in those days, manager of First Hockey, and drummer in the school orchestra. Head Prefect in his final year 1920-21, Gerry was also Captain of the Cadet Corps, Captain of First Cricket, on the executive of the Athletic Association and the Literary Society and numerous other committees. He combined all this with being Head Boy as the top student in Upper VI!

Gerald's entire business life was spent in the investment field, most of it as Vice President of Nesbitt, Thomson and Company in Montreal. He was a member of the Board of Governors of St. Andrew's from 1960 to 1964 and always could be counted on to give unstintingly of his time to its affairs and Old Boy activities.

Regrettably he was in ill health for the past few years but still remained cheerful in spite of almost continual suffering. He died on April 29 last in his 73rd year.
